⁶ For the safety and wellbeing of candidates the blended (online/on-site workshop) delivery mode also available for this subject is not available at the time of publication of this schedule. The return to offering both an online and blended delivery option for the EB and/or ICAP subjects from Term 3, 2024 is currently in review.
