Name of society

Society number or NZBN

Notes

- › Under the Incorporated Societies Act 2022, your society must file annual financial statements and annual returns with the Registrar of Incorporated Societies. The annual return helps to confirm that your society is still operating. If you don't file your annual return, the Registrar could remove your society from the Incorporated Societies Register (the register).
- › You must file your annual financial statements and complete your annual return within 6 months of your balance date (end of financial year). Before you file your financial statements, they must also have been presented to your society's members at the Annual General Meeting.
- › If your society is also registered with Charities Services, it doesn't need to file annual financial statements or complete an annual return with us, but it does file an annual return with Charities Services — www.charities.govt.nz.
- › The person signing this annual return must be either an officer of the society or an authorised agent (for example, your society's accountant or lawyer)
